* DAILY MAGAZINE PAGES FOR EVERYBODY*

THE MAN IN THE MOON

By Michelson

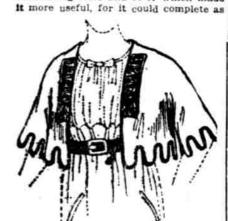

Newest Chic Mantelets

By Madge Marvel -

ere revived this spring, the present generation old-time ricture. Thirty years ago no wardrobe was complete without the shoulder strap of silk, velvet, cloth or lace. Sometimes it was of the same material as the gown, when it formed what is now known as the "three-piece suit." More often it was developed in some contrasting stuff and color which made

It was never made in such delight-knew the "mantle" as the manteau, or mantlet, was familiarly called, only by name, or as it was shown in some

NTIL the cunning little shoulder capes revived this

More a Blouse Than a Wrap.

lines of the manteau have been modified and combined to form not only smart little capes, but garments which have the lines of the waistcoat and the kimono blouse as well.

Lace, the same kind of lace which was used in creating the original cape, it seems with the lines of the waistcoat and the lines of the waistcoat and the lines of the waistcoat and the dry ingredients. If not moist enough add a little more milk. Stir well. Pour into a buttered basin and steam for an hour and a half. Lace, the same kind of face which was used in creating the original cape, is generously used. This is the Chantilly lace, or the fine thread lace, with its patterning of leaves and flowers, of

Hints For the Home

Rice Mousse.

Cook half a cupful of rice in three cupfuls of milk until tender, then add two eggs blended with two tablespoonfuls of sugar, stirring constantly until very thick and creamy; allow it to cool and then whip in a pint of stiffly beaten cream and a cupful of peach pulp sweetened to taste, and a drop or two of almond extract. Pour the mixture into a chilled mould, decorated with a selection of crystalized fruit and pack in ice and salt (rock) for three hours before using; when unmolded, surround the base of the mousse with alternate macaroons and lady fingers pressed lightly into the frozen cream. This is a real novelty in desserts, and is as delicious as it is attractive. two eggs blended with two tablespoon Marmalade Pudding.

Mix together two ounces each of bread-crumbs and well-chopped suet, an ounce of castor sugar, and a small its patterning of leaves and flowers, of scrolls and arabesques.

Pork Cheese

Changeable taffetas and taffeta brocades are also used, and there are attractive innovations in the manner of trimming and combination of materials which make the manteau one of the really new and delightful style fancies of the season.

Two imported models are shown in the illustrations.

Cut up into dice_shaped pieces one pound of cold roast pork, freed from skin and gristle, and four ounces of solid fat. Bring a pint of stock, made from pork trimmings, to the boil. Add half an ounce of gelatine and pepper and salt to season. Place the prepared meat in a small mold, previously riused out with cold water. Fill up with the stock, place in a moderate oven and

Two imported models are shown in the illustrations.

The Scalloped Kimono Sleeve.

The manteau becomes in one of these more a blouse than a wrap. It has an inner vestee of tulle, and the garment itself is of black Chantilly lace over rose-pink silk. It is bordered with black tulle ruching. If lace is not favored, this attractive little blouse may be made of the new brocaded silk, which will form a charming contrast to a plain black taffeta skirt.

The kimono sleeve appears in the charm of the black silk gown, which was the little revers in original embroidery and the scallops edged with black tulle ruching. The ruching can be easily omitted and the scallops bound with a was the little revers in the little revers in original embroidery and the scallops odged with black tulle ruching. The ruching can be easily omitted and the scallops bound with a black tulle ruching and the scallops bound with a cable to determine the present.

It was never made in such delight-

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

My Dear Miss Laurie:

My parents are deal, and, as I have no other person to go to for advice, I am writing you. There is a young man who has been calling on me quite frequently for the past few months. I like him very much, and he is good company and of good habits. The only objection I have is that the nights he calls on me he will stay until 12 o'clock or on me he will stay until 12 o'clock or half-past, and I think that he should go home about 10 o'clock. Can you advise me how to tell him

Where do you live, in a boarding arrange to have some one ring you up at 10 o'clock and have a little talk with you, where he can hear it, and say something that will make him realize that nobody thinks you can possibly have company at such an hour?

And there's the good old-fashioned yawn-what's the matter with that? Begin yawning at 10 o'clock, and when be jokes you about it, tell him you were up very early and are very tired, and that you simply can't get along at all without just so much sieep.

without just so much sleep.

If he doesn't take any of those hints have a nice plain talk with him, and tell him the plain simple truth-that you cannot allow him to stay any longer than 10:20 o'clock. If he takes offense

No, "Peggy." I don't think it is advisable for you to show a man that you care for him. The way of the world, as yet, is that the man must do the proposing. It may be a very brave and noble thing, sometimes, for a woman to transcend this convention and tell a man she loves him; but it isn't the thing for a little lady of "nearly eighteen" who can hardly know the meaning of what she considers love half a dozen times before the young man comes back from Cuba. Get as much pleasure out of its original form is the "dodge watch." It was originally the "dodge the sea." Captain" comes from the the sea." Captain" comes from the same men shall not be on duty "coxswain" had a curious origin. The "coxswain" was a man who pulled the last oar in the captain's boat, which was described as the "cockboat." This in turn, was a corruption of a small, of what she considers love half a dozen times before the young man comes back from Cuba. Get as much pleasure out present.

I wouldn't dance more than a few times with other boys when your outof-town friend takes you to the dance, unless there are some of your girl friends there to whom you can introduce him. It would not be much fun for him to spend the evening standing around watching you dance. Of course, there can be no objection to your dancing once or twice with other men.

can't have him set all the neighbors can't resist, though, saying to her, little girl, and don't apply the beautiful to gossiping by staying so late.

Where do you live, in a boarding house?

My dear Miss Laurie: I met a young and broad and good-looking.

My dear Miss Laurie: I met a young and broad and good-looking.

My dear Miss Laurie: I met a young and broad and good-looking.

My dear Miss Laurie: I met a young and broad and good-looking.

By all means accept the young man's apology. Be friends with him, if you like, so long as he behaves himself and doesn't try to repeat the kissing and start in the young man's apology. Be friends with him, if you like, so long as he behaves himself and doesn't try to repeat the kissing process; but don't imagine you're in love with him, and don't think because he kissed you that he is in love with you.

The provided have some one ring you up at 10 o'clock and have a little talk with him stating that he didn't see any harm in kissing, and that if I was copy't. 1914, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

of his letters as you can, but put all idea of love out of your head for the present.

I wouldn't dance more than a few times with other boys when your out-of-town friend takes you to the dance.

angry he would apologize for his misconduct. Now I am sorry for my hasty action, and I love him dearly. What would you advise a girl of seventeen to do, accept his apology or not?

A. B. E.

Dear A. B. E .: The man was "big and broad, and handsome," so just "naturally" you fell in love with him. Are you in the habit of "naturally" falling in love with every big, handsome man you meet? What an extremely can't have him set all the neighbors

There can be but one opinion, Questioner, as I do not want to offend him or lose his friendship?

QUAKER GIRL.

Hyou poor little "Quaker Giri" you, whatever will you do with the "stayer."

You must do something with him, there's no doubt about that; you can't have him set all the neighbors

There can be but one opinion, Questioner, as to what a girl may expect, or rather what she would attain, if she should marry the man of whom you want people to think you have any intelligence or sense of proportion, don't go around talking about falling in question is a headstrong young lady, and how very little the word "love" must mean to you. If you want people to think you have any intelligence or sense of proportion, don't go around talking about falling in question is a headstrong young lady, and how very little the word "love" must mean to you. If you want people to think you have any intelligence or sense of proportion, don't go around talking about falling in question is a headstrong young lady, and how very little the word "love" must mean to you. If you want people to think you have any intelligence or sense of proportion, don't go around talking about falling in question is a headstrong young lady, and how very little the word "love" must mean to you. If you want people to think you have any intelligence or sense of proportion, don't go around talking about falling in question is a headstrong young lady, and how very little the word "love" must mean to you. If you want people to think you have any intelligence or sense of proportion, don't go around talking about talk of putting on you want people to think you would don't go around talking about talk in your gloves. Love is a wonderful, a tremendation of the word "love" must mean to you. If you want people to think you have any intelligence or sense of proportion, don't go around talking about at the should marry the man of whom you want people to think you want people to think you want people to think you want people to thin word love to the silly little sentiment you feel for a man because he is big and broad and good-looking.

harm in kissing, and that if I was Copy't 1914, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

How Sea Phrases Originated

What the Normal Woman Wants

By WINIFRED BLACK

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

than 10:20 o'clock. If he takes offense than 10:20 o'clock. If he takes offense at that, then you are well rid of him. But he won't, He's fust dead in love with you that's all and can't bear to tear himself away, so you must do the take was the original, "Duffy" being the take was the original, "Duffy" being the that was the original, "Duffy" being the that was the original, "Duffy" being the take a good, sensible, little girl. West Indian name for a spirit or ghost west Indian name for a spirit or ghost and "Jonah" referring to the prophet.

Practically every recognized language temporarily "for a day" just as the has been called upon at some time to jury, in its leaf for a short time help in building the vocabulary of the nal summoned for a short time. help in building the vocabulary of the sea.

"Davy Jones," for instance, might be taken to refer to some dead and gone Weishman, but the name is derived from quite another source. One should speak of "Duffy Jonah's locker," for instance, might be refer to "larboard" and "starboard." Starboard" has nothing in common with the twinkling stars of the heavens; it is derived from the Anglo-Saxon. "steerboard" or "steer-side." In Viging times the galleys were steered by the helps of the helps and held with such cases the man is known to have been plainly when this malady gets started in May it is extraordivisible when you couldn't see the moon at all-when narily difficult to cure.

"Well, they have been married two days or two years. He neglects her frieghtfully."

T him unless the moon is all there. But there to the Dipper, for example.

Persistency may gain a jewel. The darker the night the brighter the light.

ENERALLY there isn't much use looking for he has been known to have wandered off distractedly fragment of the moon in sight. It may depend on your having been with him most of the evening. In man is in the moon or not, YOU are in LOVE. And are times when you can see him even with a Such cases are very serious cases. Sometimes

The fifth wheel on the wagon may be useless, but the fifth horse in the team may prevent being stalled.

Oculists would make more money but money will secure accommodations in parlor cars.

It is only when he fails to be success ful that the police are after him.

Copy't. 1314, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

For Beautiful Hair, Nourish the Scalp

Dandruff must be removed and the hair roots nourished to stop falling hair and itching scalp. It is annecessary to the hair, how badly it is falling, or bow much dandruff, Parisian Sage rubbed into the scalp is all that is ever and stimulated to grow new hair, even all dandruff is removed with one application, and itching scalp and failing

Parisian Sage, a daintily perfumed known, yet perfectly harmless and in-

Long, Uncut Finger Nails

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins). LL the perfumes of Arabia and the incense from Cathay cannot sweeten manicured nails that have one jone microscopic microbe on them. Be the finger nails ever so soft and polished, be the hands ever so fine and pretty, these arts are no pro-tection against pimples, blackheads, open pores, boils or

Typhoid Mary, Tuberculosis Temmy and Sore Throat Sarah are the names of a few kitchen maids, barbers, milkmen, cooks, breadmakers, hairdressers, beauty doctors and eye-glass fitters, who often have beautifully manicured hands, yet carry lurking disease germs beneath their varnished and tinted nails.

There are marvelously molded hands, lovely to look upon, that are more venomous to the handkerchiefs, linens, faces and fiesh they touch than is the bite of the DR HIRSHBERG.

There are claws and paws and flippers and fins which when they touch bits of wet cloth, pieces of unbaked dough, the dishes and usensils, become the sources of physical conflagrations, which seem mysterious and remote when they appear.

Unblushingly I mix the metaphors to prove that the prettiest, most envied hand is often the talon of a poisonous bird of ill omen.

The late learned rabbi, Dr. A. S. Bettelheim, traced the saying "cleanliness is next to godliness," to the saying of Phineas-ben-Jair, in the Talmud. The latter said: "The doctrines of religion are resolved into carefulness, carefulness into vigorousness, vigorousness in-to guiltlessness, guiltlessness into abstemiousness, abstemiousness into cleanliness, cleanliness into godliness."

How to Trim Nails.

Undoubtedly, then, there are some barbers, cooks or manufacts who are not godly. Or, despite the shining glory of their finger tips, their nails are only at best clean to the eye. Actually, when tested for the bacteria of tonsilitis, car-buncles, itches, ecsemas, erysipelas, and worse, their finger nails turn out to be harbingers of unpleasant consequences.

There is no better sign of efficiency, capacity, morality and honesty than the adoption of the surgeon's habit of washing and also disinfecting the hands and finger nails before meals, before touch-ing the eye, the cheek, the chin, the lips or the flesh of a stranger or of your

The second mother of man, habit, i either a true mother, or a Cinderella-like stepmother. If a child is raised up in the way it should go as to disinfecting its hands and nails with soap. water, peroxide, or borne aicd half a dozen times or more daily, when it grows up, it will not depart from this grows up, it will not depart from the good mother, habit.

If, however, like the boys of the Queen of Sheba, whom Solomon distinguished from the girls merely by asking all the youngsters to wash—the boys, of course, washed only below the elbows—children are untaught about the dangers of a scratch from the clean nail, which is germ infested, the grown-ups of the next generation will be as destructive to health as the rest of us today.

Thank you. Rubber boots, if worn often, are decidedly unhealthful. They remove the elasticity and adaptability of the skin, muscles and blood channels. It is much the same as spoiling and coddling your throat with furs. This causes sore throats. In this situation, aspirin and salicylates are inadvisable. The thing to do is to remove the boots as quickly as you can. Perhaps no more pernicious and death-dealing assassin stalks through civil-ized life and ultra-cultured castes of present day society than the long, un-cut finger nails!

Where Germs Gather.

The tapering, untrimmed, Li Hung Chang type of finger nail, so popular with imitators and unthinking social climbers, is a bit of barbaric splendor on a par with eating chop suey, Yoka mi and the use of eastern chop sticks. Far better wear poniards and poisoned dirks, to carry snuff boxes, or become a professional wrecker of the coasts of St. John's than to follow the come a professional vector of the coasts of St. John's than to follow the cancer - causing, tuberculosis - spreading and diphtheria-inciting custom of uncut finger nails.

Hygienically and logically the finger or the toe nails should not abut upon the fiesh. The margins or advancing edges of the nails should not project beyond the ends of the fingers.

Indeed, there should be one-eighth of an inch of finger fiesh visible beyond the nail. When you tap, tap, tap upon the chamber door only the skin and pulp of the finger may touch the wood. The skin is always freer of germs than the pocket of the finger nails.

Then, from the body's purity, the mind will receive the quickening, secret, sympathetic aid which makes for physical health to yourself as well as to others.

Copy't. 1914, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

The Store For People Just Married

Young married couples usually find that home expenses will exceed their most careful calculations.

We realize they may not be able, at first, to spare a great deal of money toward furnishing their home.

That point is considered in arranging an account, and terms are granted which make the payments very easy to meet.

It enables them to have nice things at once-the better qualities that are sure to prove economical — the furnishings that make a home pretty and comfortable.

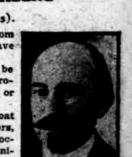

We've given this credit help to thousands-we'll give it to Peter Grogan & Sous Co.

Our Credit Accommodation

817 to 823 Seventh Street

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Answers to Health Ouestions

Yes. Go to the x-ray department of the nearest hospital and have them look G. W .- Recently my ears began to

D. M. S .- Can a red birthmark in the theek be made invisible or removed?

ring, and I grew dizzy. My heart is

This comes from half a dozen causes, such as a mastoiditis trouble in the bone behind the ear, weak blood, high blood pressure, disorders of the semi-circular canals of the ear, and hyperacidity of the stomach. READER-What will remove moles? There are several different kinds of noles. A stick of caustic will ren moles. A stick of caustic will remove some. An "ice pencil" of carbonic acid will remove others. The x-ray or radium will destroy others. The knife is a simple, safe and sure way to take out moles.

The electric needle, acids, concentrated light and the scizsors are also used. used.
Moles should always be removed, be-cause one or more per cent of them become, in later years, cancers.

F. L. G.—What a lot of good you are doing for the people. Thank goodness some one takes the public into his medical confidence and sets us free from quacks.

What does standing in rubber boots cause, a cold in the hip? Do you advise a sailing or salleylates?

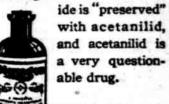

move the boots as quickly as you can, wear them as seldom as possible, and massage the feet and legs with alcohol and vinegar three times a day to keep them fit to protect you.

Fighting Infection Is Serious Work!

Even a scratch from a finger nail may be a dangerous thing. There is one sure preventive of infection-

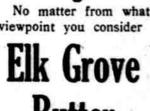

Dioxogen

A cheap peroxide is often offered when you ask for Dioxogen. But cheap peroxide is "preserved"

The Oakland Chemical Co. 93 Front St., New York

Butter

-you will find it ideal. GOLDEN & CO. Wholesalers Only

EAR me, Reader, how very serious you are about the "normal" and the "abnormal' woman. You aren't a woman - that's easy to see. Women don't talk so much about the longing for a "mate and a They may feel it-some of them undoubtedly do; but it's considered rather bad form to say too much about it. There are a great many things which the "normal" woman wishes she had and can't get.

Beauty, for instance. It's silly, I suppose, but I don't believe there's a woman in the world who doesn't wish she was beautiful. Does that wishing make her so, and ought she to sit down and cry her eyes red, if she isn't pretty? Or doesn't she show a good deal more common sense to turn away from the mirror and go out in the kitchen and make a layer cake for tea; or in the living room and embroider a coat for baby sister; or downtown and work for a living-than to stand in front of a looking-glass and weep because her eyes are not in the least like violets and her hair hasn't even the least resemblance

Of course, the average woman-and I suppose when you say normal woman you mean the average woman-wants a mate and a home and children, just as she wants a dinner and a fire to sit by and a bed to sleep in and comfortable clothes to wear and flowers to look at and books to read and friends to love.

He-Let's have a secret marriage. She-But then we will get no wedding Symptoms.

no duplicates to dispose of These things are the great pleasures, the great joys, the great opportunities have thin, brittle matted, stringy or of life-why shouldn't she want them? And why should it be a credit to her to faded hair. No matter how unsightly long for them and a discredit not to care?

Does the normal woman crave for love? What a silly question. Does she crave for light, for fresh air, for sunshine -for the chance to breathe and to live? Of course she does, unless she's feeble- needed. The hair roots are nourished minded-and then, my friend, she wouldn't be quite "normal" would she? So you think the woman who has no "longing" for a mate and a home is a

She isn't half as much of a freak as the woman who is so crazy to get a fluffy, abundant and radiant with life mate and a home that she'll marry the first man who asks her and thank him and beauty. for the chance to get into any old kind of what he chooses to call "a nome." Wake up, brother Jehoshaphat-no, I mean Methuselah. Comb the knots out of your beard and brush the cobwebs out of your eyes. Your kind of a world vigorating and refreshing hair tonics has whirled by-while you were asleep in the hayloft.

Maybe the woman you married loved you when she married you-and maybe expensive. After the first application she didn't. The women of your generation had to marry whether they wanted you will be surprised and delighted to or not-there was nothing else for them to do. Perhaps your son's wife mar- with Parisian Sage, for there is nothing ried him because she couldn't live another day without him-and perhaps she that will so help to doub's your present married him to spite the girl who was trying to get him. She knew she probably would have to marry somebody, for marriage was still the easiest way for that can possibly be desired. a woman to get a living.

Your grandson, when he marries, will marry a woman who loves him—or at least a woman who thinks she loves him.

Be sure to get Paristan Sage from O'Donnell's Drug Store, or at any drug Women don't marry "for a home" or "for a man" these days. At least, not or tollet counter, as there is no other the women worth marrying.

Chips

It naturally frightens a woman to told that she looks like a fright.

The successful criminal is all right.

Time lends humor to the scene. It is easy to laugh at what was once an ag-liquid, is one of the most pleasant, inhair, and this tonic treatment is all Be sure to get Parisian Sage from

One Effective Remedy. "He says that he is compelled by hi muse to write poetry." "Why doesn't he get an injunction?"

An Advantage. wants to." "How much nicer it would be if sha could blush every time she wanted to.

23'300 1-1b. loaves to the barrel.

For Hot-Weather Baking

-you should use the flour that gives the greatest satisfaction with the least expenditure of energy on YOUR part.

BLEND." See that your very next orde for table supplies SPECIFIES

You will have such flour

if you order "CREAM

Cream Blend FLOUR AT YOUR GROCER'S.

B. B. Earnshaw & Bro. Wholesalers, 1106, 1107, 1109 lith st. se.

Brings Home Comfort,